$1,000,000 Halleck Student Activity Center To Be Constructed on St. Joseph's Campus

Construction will begin this summer on the new $1,000,000 Halleck Student Activity Center (pictured above in the architect's drawing) for St. Joseph's College. The building is named after Congressman Charles A. Halleck of Rensselaer, who is a member of the St. Joseph's board of lay trustees.

Halleck, Republican Minority Leader in the House of Representatives and a long time representative from Indiana's second district (in which St. Joseph's is located), made the announcement that the Housing and Home Finance Agency had allocated a loan for the center.

The center has been designed by Frank Fischer, A.I.A., of Rensselaer and Chicago. It will be erected in the circle between Bennett and Noll halls and will cover approximately 62,000 square feet of floor space. This is ten times larger than Raleigh Hall which serves as the present student activity center.

(Raleigh Recreational Hall is a remodeled government building that St. Joseph's received from the Federal Works Agency under the Lenham Act following the second world war. It was erected on campus during the summer of 1947 and has served as the student activity center for the past 13 years. It was extensively remodeled in 1955.)

Preliminary plans for the Center include a multi-purpose room; general lounge area; a recreation and games area; conference and meeting rooms; student cafeteria; Student Council offices; student publication offices; college bookstore; snack bar; TV room; and Dean of Men's office. The building must be devoted exclusively to student services and facilities according to terms of the loan.

Construction of the new center and release of Raleigh Hall will free considerable space in that building and in the Administration and Publications buildings for additional classrooms, laboratories and offices.

The new center is badly needed to provide services and facilities for an enrollment which has more than doubled in the past ten years and which is now at a record high of 1,100. It will also centralize activities and offices now scattered all over the campus.

Wholesale Shakeup!

Iofredo's Contract Not to be Renewed; Dwyer, Holstein Named Head Coaches; Merki, '55, Signed as Assistant

A wholesale shakeup in the coaching staff occurred following the announcement by Rev. Richard P. Baird, C.P.P.S., '35, St. Joseph's athletic director, that head coach Joe Iofredo's contract, which expires this year, will not be renewed by the college. Iofredo was head coach of both football and basketball.

Edward F. Dwyer and James H. Holstein, presently assistant coaches, have been signed as head football coach and head basketball coach respectfully and Donald J. Merki, '55, former Puma basketball and baseball star, has been signed as an assistant coach in basketball and as head baseball coach.

Iofredo came to St. Joseph's in 1957 as an assistant coach in both football and basketball. He took over the reins as head basketball coach in 1959, and became head football coach the following year.

Coach Iofredo's basketball teams compiled a 27-38 record during the last three seasons. In his first year as head basketball coach, Iofredo led the Pumas to a 6-6 Indiana Collegiate Conference record for fourth place in the conference. The season's record was 12-11. In 1959-60, his squad finished sixth in the ICC with a 3-9 record and a 10-12 overall record.

This past season was one of the worst in St. Joseph's basketball history, as the Pumas won only five while losing 15 and finished last in the ICC with a record of 2-10.

In two seasons as head football coach, Iofredo's record was 7-9-1. The Pumas of 1959 posted a 4-4 season mark and a 3-3 record in the ICC to finish in a three way tie for third place. This past season the team gained sole possession of third place in the conference with a 3-2-1 record. Their season record was 3-5-1.

Alumni Director Rudolph Volz Killed in Crash

Rudolph Louis Volz, Jr., of RFD 4, Rensselaer, Executive Secretary of the National Alumni Association of St. Joseph's College, passed away at St. Elizabeth hospital in Lafayette, Indiana at 8:15 p.m., Monday, June 12, approximately twenty hours after suffering injuries in a one-car accident near his home.

Mr. Volz was born in Louisville, Kentucky, July 13, 1931, the son of Rudolph L. Volz, Sr., and Elsie (Nilest) Volz, who reside at 199 Crescent avenue, Louisville. He was married to Elizabeth Geanne Zollinger September 2, 1954, in a ceremony performed in his native city.

Surviving with the parents and widow are three sons, Rudolph Louis Volz, III, Theodore Volz and Alec Volz, all living at the parental home.

Mr. Volz assumed his post as Alumni Director at St. Joseph's August 1, 1959. He was graduated from Louisville's Flaget high school in 1949 and received the Bachelor of Arts degree in social science at St. Joseph's in 1953.

He spent most of his two-year army career at Fort Lewis, Washington. After his separation from active duty in 1955 he did a year of graduate work at the University of Louisville's Kent School of Social Work.

Fr. Ballman to Study Abroad

Rev. Donald L. Ballman, Ph.D., C.P.P.S., '47, instructor in geology at St. Joseph's, is one of 20 American geology teachers chosen for an international geology institute to be held in Great Britain this summer.

The eight week program, sponsored by the American Geological Institute with funds provided by the National Science Foundation, will begin June 29 at the University of Swansea in Wales.

The course will continue until Aug. 21. During the course, the participants will move about to all the major geologic areas of Great Britain.

According to Father Ballman, the main intent of the institute is to give the American geologists a better understanding of the problems encountered by the founders of modern geology.

In the areas of Britain where Fr. Ballman's group will study are the sites where the Cambrian, Ordovician, Silurian, and Devonian eras were identified and dated. Only the vast precambrian age preceded these eras in geologic time.

The aim of the program is to place athletic grants in the hands of the most qualified academically, athletically, and on the basis of need, Fr. Baird said.

Under the new system all prospective students, expressing interest in any varsity sport will receive a letter from Fr. Baird. They will be asked to fill our forms describing their physical condition and their high school athletic achievements and return them to the college. The forms will be filed for later use should the student enroll in St. Joe.

Alumnus Added To SJC Staff

St. Joseph's added two new members to the college's lay faculty for the spring semester. Mr. John L. Richert is teaching one section of business law, and Miss Florence Spuehler teaches art skills and crafts.

Mr. Richert, a 1953 graduate of St. Joseph's, received his law degree from the Valparaiso school of law in 1960. He is a member of the Indiana Bar, being admitted to practice before the Indiana Supreme Court and the U.S. District Court of Indiana last September.

He has been practicing law in Winamac, Ind., in association with the firm of Essex and Richert, Attorneys at Law.

Miss Spuehler received her BAE in 1951 and her MAE in 1953 from the Art Institute of Chicago.

She has been teaching at St. Joseph's Calumet Center since 1953, and she will continue to teach there next semester while conducting a course on the main campus.

New Recruitment Program Planned

Those prospects who inquired concerning athletic scholarships will be asked to fill out additional forms. In addition, the coaches will investigate the athletic background of each applicant.

Athletic grants are available in football and basketball only, and only in limited numbers.

To supplement the information they receive from the applicants and their high school coaches, the college coaches will request alumni in the applicant's area to scout him in action and report their opinions of his ability to the college.

The coaches will attempt to personally contact as many of the applicants as possible. Then, after studying all available information on all applicants, they will recommend, with the approval of Fr. Baird, those prospects they feel are most deserving of scholarships.

Final decisions on the recommendation will be made by the scholarship committee. They will determine which applicants will receive the grants, and also how much aid each will receive.

Applicants for athletic scholarships must meet the same entrance requirements as other students.

Athletes must also maintain an above probationary index to retain their eligibility, and their scholarships.

Fr. Baird and coaches Ed Dwyer and Jim Holstein will welcome at any time information on possible future athletes.

A Variation on Alumni Giving Proposed by SJC Librarian

by Rev. Charles H. Banet, C.P.P.S.

(Father Banet is the librarian at St. Joseph's College. His article is prompted by a survey he made which revealed that in the last ten years some 2000 books have disappeared from St. Joseph's library. During the past decade an average loss of 150 books a year has cost the college approximately $900 a year.)

When East Orange, N.J. policemen carted off delinquent library borrowers to jail in the dead of night, it stirred up a sensation. Libraries got more publicity from TV and front pages than they do during National Library Week. What caused the furor? Overdue books and a library's efforts to recover them. Suddenly people became conscious that there are penalties for failure to return books that can be severe. Libraries across the land began getting back a flood of books overdue and, in many cases, missing for years.

During the past decade the St. Joseph's College library might have wanted some of this police power to recover its books, not the overdue ones, but the "stolen" ones. Occasional efforts were made by the library to recover its property, but only a few of you are unaware that not everyone was "caught". Not just a few of you will find the evidence of this on your bookshelves now.

Why were these books "stolen"? It is a difficult question to answer. As I review our inventory of missing books, I can only guess that the predominant motive was the additional time allowed when there is no "date due" stamped. Very few of these missing books would serve as substantial additions to a personal library. One volume of a set is only a start. The next question is easier to explain. Why weren't these books "sneaked" back into the library? Fear of being caught, and plain laziness. Yet during the past 10 years this constant leakage of books has cost your college approximately $9000.00 and thousands more in irritation at those dead ends when the books was needed and not available.

Maybe the East Orange incident has made some of you conscious of a book that was never returned. Perhaps National Library Week, celebrated this month on April 16-22, reminded you of this. It is possible to relieve your conscience and at the same time give the college financial aid by saving us replacement costs. Money saved is as helpful as money given. If you are embarrassed by one of these missing volumes, and want to make a valuable contribution to the college, make use of the Library Materials mailing label included in this issue of Contact. This won't be noted in the Alumni Fund report, because the label precludes self revelation. Clip the label and paste it to a well-wrapped package. The cost is only 4c the first pound and 1c for each additional pound. Unless the package contains a volume of the Encyclopedia Britannica most books go for about 6 or 7 cents. Don't bother insuring them.

This surely could be a new wrinkle in alumni-college contri-

Fr. Banet surveys some of the empty library shelves that could be filled with the books described in the accompanying article. Over 2000 books have "disappeared" from St. Joseph's library in the past ten years.

butions—saving us money. And what a wonderful way to relieve one's conscience.

'60 Graduate Mrs. Ruth Yeoman, Records Two Firsts

Last June, when Mrs. Ruth Yeoman '60, of Hebron, Ind., graduated with honors from St. Joseph's College she recorded a double first at the college. She was the first student and female to begin and complete the elementary education program at the college and the first female graduate to have completed a four year program at the college. (Mrs. Yeoman completed all of her college work, with the exception of three courses, at St. Joseph's.)

Mrs. Yeoman entered St. Joseph's in the fall of 1955 as the first woman to enroll as a freshman.

During her student years Mrs. Yeoman earned a place on the Dean's List three times, and in 1958 she was named to the Gamma Delta Chapter of Delta Epsilon Sigma, the National Catholic Honor Society. She graduated cum laude, having achieved a cumulative index of 3.35 out of a possible 4.00.

Since 1958 she has been teaching the second grade at the Hebron Elementary School and while teaching managed to complete her degree program through extension and summer work.

Mrs. Yeoman and her husband Ray, who is an accountant for the Porter Co. Co-op in Valparaiso, Ind., have three children.

Co-education Comes To Pumaville; Girls Stranded on Campus

As one Indiana newspaper columnist reported it, "They've been talking about making St. Joseph's College co-educational for years, but it took an act of God to make it happen." This the comment of a St. Joseph's student after 280 girls, who had been stranded by a snow storm on the campus for three days, took their leave.

It all started Apr. 16 when the annual Indiana Catholic College Choral Festival was held on the St. Joseph's campus. Participating were: St. Mary's of Notre Dame; St. Francis, Fort Wayne; Marian College, Indianapolis; St. Mary-of-the-Woods, Terre Haute; and St. Joseph's.

The concert was given that afternoon. Earlier it had begun to snow and by the end of the concert Indiana State Police announced that due to deep snow and high winds the roads were impassable and no one would be permitted to leave the campus for any reason. Stranded along with the college choruses were chorus directors, nuns, bus drivers, and members of the Gary Symphonic Orchestra.

The immediate problem was housing the girls and the mounting number of passersby who became stranded and sought refuge at the college.

Halas and Gallagher halls were evacuated of all male students for the girls and passersby were sheltered in the fieldhouse with large mats used for wrestling meets pressed into service to serve as temporary bedding.

The displaced Pumas found space where they could in the rooms of fellow students who had not returned from the weekend at home because of the snow; in the boiler room; the floor of the post office; in Raleigh Hall booths; shower rooms; and offices.

For entertainment, a student combo played for a day long dance in Raleigh Hall Monday and a variety show was held.

Finally by Tuesday morning the roads were cleared and the girls made their departure after a never to be forgotten weekend.

The Very Rev. Raphael H. Gross, C.P.P.S., president of St. Joseph's, commented that scholastically Monday (Apr. 17) wasn't the most productive day of the school year.

St. Joseph's College has one of the finest libraries of any Catholic college in the nation. Last year, $23,000 was spent on library materials, including books, periodicals, and special materials. St. Joseph's placed in the top 20 among 258 Catholic colleges and universities in library expenditures.

SJ Students Receiving $138,904 In Scholarships, Loans and Grants

St. Joseph's students are receiving a grand total of $138,904 in financial aid this year.

Academic scholarships account for $23,964 of this total. Held by 55 students, the scholarships were renewable at the end of the first semester provided the recipient maintained a 3.00 or higher index.

Twenty-six students are receiving $9,410 under the grant-in-aid program. They are required to work off one-third of their grants.

Forty-three full athletic grants (room, board, and tuition) have been made. Of these, 31 are in football and are divided among 46 players. The other 12 have been distributed among 19 basketball players. There are no scholarships for baseball or the minor sports.

Thirty-five students are each receiving $100 this year from band grants.

Loans totaling $30,610 have been made this semester by the National Student Loan Fund. These loans

Bro. Fred is Victim of Accident; Was at St. Joseph's 28 Years

(The campus was shocked and saddened when Bro. Frederick Baecht, C.P.P.S., fell from the cat-walk in the boiler room while repairing a pipe line. His skull was fractured. He did not regain consciousness and died within 36 hours. Brother Fred was 58 years old and a faithful and dependable mechanic on the campus for 28 years. The following is a tribute to Brother Fred which appeared in Parents, a publication of the college.)

On Nov. 17 the chapel bells tolled in memory of one of St. Joseph's finest and most valuable men, Bro. Frederick Baecht, C.P.P.S. Characteristic of his untiring devotion to duty, he died as he had lived—working.

Brother Fred was born on Oct. 14, 1902, in Alvarado, Texas. He worked as an auto mechanic, an oil well repair man, and in a stone quarry before he joined the Society of the Precious Blood in 1933.

He was assigned to the carpenter shop at St. Joseph's college where he remained until 1955, when he went into plumbing and general maintenance work. Lastly he became a fireman in the boiler room and in this work he died.

Brother Fred was loved and respected by everyone who knew him. He was never too busy or too tired to do someone a favor, and he was seldom idle. When he was not working at his regular job he was tinkering with something in need of repair.

A master mechanic in every field conceivable, Brother Fred repaired autos, bicycles, and machines of all kinds; he fixed radios, TV sets, and watches. He had a searching mind, interested in finding out how everything worked or why it didn't work.

Brother Fred did not know the meaning of fear. He had climbed up to the water tower, which he cleaned and repaired, and he was seen walking around on the slippery chapel roof during the rain, looking for the source of a leak.

He toyed with death more than once; he was caught and cut by a conveyor in a stone quarry and he fell off a barn roof while repairing it. He also lost part of a finger while working with a band saw.

Nov. 15 Brother Fred was cleaning one of the boilers. When he climbed out, the sudden change of temperature plus the dust-filled air apparently caused him to black out just as he was reaching for the catwalk, about twenty feet above the floor. He missed the catwalk and fell to the floor, unconscious. He died two days later of a head injury in Jasper County hospital.

Rev. Marcellus M. Dreiling, C.P.P.S., '30, associate professor of mathematics at St. Joseph's College, celebrated the silver anniversary of his ordination on May 1, the Feast of St. Joseph the Worker, patron of the College. Father Dreiling was celebrant of a Solemn High Mass in the College Chapel on that date.

The Very Rev. John E. Byrne, '32, president of the Board of Control of St. Joseph's College, presents the Alumni Merit Award to Edward A. Fischer, '34, at the college's mid-year graduation as his family looks on.

Fischer, '34, Receives Alumni Merit Award

Edward A. Fischer, '34, associate professor of communications in the Communications Arts Department at the University of Notre Dame and motion picture and television critic for Ave Maria, a national weekly magazine, was the recipient of the Alumni Merit Award presented by St. Joseph's College.

Fischer received the award at the college's mid-year graduation exercises Jan. 29. The presentation was made by the Very Rev. John E. Byrne, C.P.P.S., '32, president of the Board of Control of St. Joseph's College and Provincial of the American Province of the Society of the Precious Blood. Fischer also delivered the baccalaureate address to the 26 candidates for the bachelor's degree.

The Alumni Merit Award is presented periodically by the administration and faculty of the college to St. Joseph's alumni in recognition of professional accomplishment in their field. The first Alumni Merit Award was presented at last year's mid-year graduation to Vincent J. Giese, '45, editorial director of Fides Publishers Association in Chicago, Ill.

Professor Fischer, who was cited for his work as a teacher, film critic and as an author, is a native of Louisville, Ky. He attended St. Joseph's Academy and Junior College from 1928 to 1934. He received his bachelor's degree in journalism from the University of Notre Dame in 1937. After graduation from Notre Dame he worked for two years as a newspaper man before joining the St. Joseph's faculty where he pioneered the news bureau, the department of journalism, and Contact, the alumni newspaper. Along with the Rev. Sylvester Ley, C.P.P.S., '18, Fischer was the first editor of Contact, as well as the first alumni secretary.

In 1942 he volunteered for the Army and during 43 months of military service in World War II he was with the Army in the China-Burma-India Theatre as a military historian. He returned to the United States in 1946 with the rank of Captain and resumed his work at St. Joseph's.

In 1947 he joined the faculty of Notre Dame where he currently teaches writing and design. He has worked in almost every field of communications — newspapers, magazines, radio, television and motion pictures. He also served in the Korean conflict. He is the author of the 183 page "The Screen Arts: a guide to film and television appreciation." The book, Fischer's first, was published by the New York Publishers Sheed & Ward.

Fischer lives with his wife and two sons in Knute Rockne's old home near the edge of the Notre Dame campus in South Bend, Ind.

New Major Added

A new journalism-social science group major will be offered in the fall semester of 1961, it has been announced by the college.

The program will require at least 36 upper-level hours, divided as follows: twelve hours in journalism, twelve in political science, six in economics, and six in history.

This curriculum will be offered as an alternate to the older English-journalism group major which requires a minimum of thirty upper-level hours so distributed that each department is represented by at least twelve.

The new group major aims to provide the student with background knowledge in the vital areas of politics, economics, and history, about which he will be expected to write as a professional journalist.

Eight games have been scheduled for the 1961 football Pumas, and two open dates remain on the calendar. Already on the schedule are the six traditional ICC foes plus Central State (Ohio), who defeated the Pumas 18-9 last fall in the first meeting between the teams.

The sole new opponent for next year's football squad will be traditional small-college powerhouse Hillsdale college, from Hillsdale, Mich., who will open the Puma season here Saturday, Sept. 16. Like the Pumas, the Dales have had some great teams in recent years, and have played on national TV.

Coach Ed Dwyer has contacted all colleges within a 300 mile radius of St. Joseph's concerning possible games. He hopes to fill one

Assistants

Ray Regner, '61, and Norb Daigle, former St. Joseph's football standouts, have been awarded athletic assistantships by the college. The assistantships will enable the pair to continue their educations while gaining coaching experience.

Regner, who played end for the Pumas, will assist the coaching staff while studying for his master's degree in physical education at Purdue University.

Daigle, former varsity half-back, will coach here only until his graduation in June. He is a business major.

Teaching Nuns to Leave SJC

The three C.P.P.S. sisters, Sr. Mary Anthonita Hess, Sr. Mary Audrey Bourgeois, and Sr. Mary Delphine Kolker, now teaching at St. Joseph's, will leave the college in June for other educational frontiers.

Sister Mary Anthonita, assistant professor of history, has been elected to the general council of her community, the group which advises Mother General on important decisions. As such, she must remain close to headquarters, and so she will teach at the University of Dayton extension—the motherhouse—next fall. This summer she will teach cultural history at St. John's College, Cleveland, Ohio.

Sister received her doctor's degree from Catholic University in 1949 and did post-graduate study in Middle East and Russian history at Georgetown University.

She taught history and political science at the U.D. extension before she came to St. Joseph's in 1956. She is a native of Davton.

Sister Mary Audrey, the head of the division of Elementary Education at St. Joseph's, will teach a graduate course in the philosophy of education next summer at the University of Dayton campus. In the fall she will be a regular member of the U.D. faculty in the graduate division of education.

Sister Mary Audrey taught grammar and high school before she was made supervisor of schools of the community, a post she held for some time. Sister earned her B.A. and M.A. degrees from U.D. and she will be officially awarded her doctorate in education next June. She taught a course in educational psychology at Catholic University and later came to St. Joseph's, where she has been for two years.

Sister Delphine, instructor in English, will be the first C.P.P.S. sister to teach full time at St. John's College in Cleveland. She will teach both under-graduate and graduate level courses in English there next September. Before that she will teach sacred art in summer school at the U.D. extension.

Besides English, Sister has taught philosophy, education, history, and art; and she has had three years of grammar school and four years of high school teaching experience.

On the college level, she taught at the U.D. extension for several years and conducted an extension in San Luis Rey, Cal., before she came to St. Joseph's, where she has taught English for two years. She earned her doctorate at Catholic University and has done post-doctorate work at Notre Dame.

Woodrow Wilson Fellowship Awarded St. Joseph's Student

One Senior has been awarded a Woodrow Wilson Fellowship and three others have received graduate school scholarships or fellowships.

William T. Cormack, a senior from Oak Park, Ill., has been awarded a Woodrow Wilson Fellowship to study at any university of his choice in the United States or Canada.

The award carries a basic stipend of $1500 plus family allowances and full costs for a year's graduate study.

Cormack was graduated from Fenwick high school in Oak Park. He is a philosophy major.

He has been a member of the Chicago club and the Engineering club. As a junior, he was named to Delta Epsilon Sigma, the national Catholic Honor Society, and last fall he was elected to Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges.

Cormack is one of 1400 winners from approximately 355 United States and Canadian universities and colleges who will study in 83 different graduate schools in the two countries.

Students were not permitted to apply directly for the fellowship, but had to be nominated for it by a faculty member of the university or college.

Tom Dagon, a native of Canisteo, N.Y., and a graduate of Canisteo H.S., was awarded a one year assistantship by Fordam university. Dagon will receive $1600 plus tuition and will probably be assigned duties in either research or teaching.

A chemistry major, Dagon is a member of the Delta Epsilon Sigma honor fraternity.

He also was awarded a fellowship by Pennsylvania State University. The fellowship included tuition and fees, plus $190 per month expenses for nine months.

The total stipend is $1710, and tuition and fees for summer school will also be provided if he desires.

Tom Schoenbaum, a philosophy major who comes from River Forest, Ill., and is a graduate of Fenwick H.S., was awarded a National Defense Scholarship for graduate study in philosophy at Marquette university.

His is a three year scholarship in which he will receive $2000 the first year, $2200 the second, and $2400 the third year.

In high school he was admitted to the National Honor Society. An active college student, Schoenbaum has been a member of the Columbian Players, the Debating team, and the track team.

He is now associate editor of Measure. He also is a member of the Delta Epsilon Sigma honor fraternity.

James McCauley has also been awarded a fellowship to Pennsylvania State University, University Park, Pa. McCauley is a geology major.

McCauley's stipend included tuition and fees, plus two hundred dollars per month expenses for nine months.

Robert W. Morell, Ph.D., chairman of the department of business administration at St. Joseph's, has been awarded a post-doctoral fellowship to study at Indiana University this summer. The fellowship was awarded by the Ford Foundation.

Dr. Morell plans to use the fellowship for research and study in the general field of management.

Dr. Morell, an associate professor of management, came to St. Joseph's in 1959 from the University of Detroit. He received his M.B.A. from the University of Chicago in 1950, and his Ph.D. from St. Louis University in 1957.

Barton, Lyons Receive Grants for Further Study

Two St. Joseph's faculty members have received grants to continue study in their major fields.

Daniel D. Lyons, instructor in philosophy, has been named as the recipient of a Danforth Teacher Study Grant for 1961-62.

Dr. Jay Barton, associate professor of biology, has been awarded a fellowship by the National Science Foundation to do research in Copenhagen, Denmark.

Mr. Lyons will use his grant, carrying a stipend of $2950 plus tuition and fees, to pursue the Ph.D. degree in philosophy at the University of Chicago. Lyons was one of some 70 college and university teachers receiving such grants for next year from the Danforth Foundation.

Recipients were chosen on the basis of "potential excellence as teachers, outstanding academic ability, personality congenial to the classroom, and integrity and character, including commitment and serious inquiry within the Christian tradition."

A native of Cresco, Ia., Lyons received his B.A. degree from St. Thomas College in St. Paul, Minn. and his M.A. degree from the Dominican College of St. Thomas Aquinas in River Forest, Ill. He came to St. Joseph's in 1958.

Dr. Barton's research will be concerned with the functions of the cell nucleus and specifically with "the changes in composition and metabolic function of the nucleus during the cell-cycle."

He will leave with his wife and seven children next summer and will spend a year in Copenhagen at the Biological Institute of the Carlsberg Foundation.

Dr. Barton is one of approximately 300 teachers of science, mathematics, and engineering who received the NSF's "Science Faculty Fellowships." The primary purpose of the awards is to "provide an opportunity for college and university science teachers to enhance their effectiveness as teachers."

This was the second NSF award granted to Dr. Barton in four years. In 1957 he won a $20,000 grant to carry on his investigation of the cell nucleus at St. Joseph's.

A native of Batavia, Ill., Dr. Barton received his A.B., M.A., and Ph.D. degrees from the University of Missouri. He taught for five years at Columbia University before coming to St. Joseph's in 1955.

Kennedy-Johnson Sweep Campus Poll

Did you wonder who was the St. Joseph's student's presidential choice in the last election?

Here are the results of the presidential preference poll conducted on the campus election day, Nov. 8.

Senators John Kennedy and Lyndon Johnson received 468 votes to 174 for Vice-President Nixon and Henry Cabot Lodge.

The Democratic ticket received 72% of the 672 valid ballots cast and gained a plurality of nearly 300 votes.

Thirty-two ballots were invalidated.

or any citizen who makes an outstanding effort, through writing, speaking, or action, to enhance public understanding and appreciation of the right and freedoms guaranteed to Americans.

Sister took as her subject the Bill of Rights, the first ten amendments to the U.S. Constitution, and especially speech and press freedom. She wrote, "The hold words of the Bill of Rights—are not empty slogans hut written treasures prized by men." The essay explained the tremendous significance of the document to the American way of life.

In conclusion, Sister said, "Let us reiterate, today, that our fundamental rights are 'self-evident' and thank our Creator that the Bill of Rights which spells them out explicitly is a sacred deposit of active guarantees, one of the most priceless of which is freedom of speech and of the press."

Sr. Anthonita has been on the college staff since 1956. A native of Dayton, Ohio, she earned her Ph.D. from Catholic University of America in Washington, D.C. in 1949.

This past month Marion Jordan, better known to radio listeners as Molly of "Fibber McGee and Molly", died in Hollywood. Her death reminded many that in April, 1948 St. Joseph's College awarded the Jordans honorary degrees. Pictured above are the Jordans (center) talking with Marilyn Malone, a student at Marycrest College, and John W. Lynch, '50, during the ceremonies.
